“MOVE THAT BUS!”

Ty Pennington and Classic Homes of Maryland reveal the new Jackson family home

Rockville, Md. – June 29, 2008 – The Montgomery County family today became one of the few families to hear the words “MOVE THAT BUS!” and have their new home revealed to them. At two o’clock this afternoon, Ty Pennington and his design team along with the builder, Classic Homes of Maryland, revealed the new Jackson family home by “moving that bus.”

The emotional moment was full of joy as the past hardship that once faced the Jackson family was stripped away and they entered their home. Ty gave the family the tour of their home and all of the unique features designed for them alone. And hundreds of neighbors, friends, and family all joined together to show their happiness and gratitude, cheering on Ty and the new home.

“This is the moment we were waiting for, the moment that made all of our hard-work and long hours worth it. To see the faces of the Jackson family as they were shown their new home was priceless,” says Amita Jain, Vice-President and Co-Founder of Classic Homes of Maryland.

The new home was built in four days of construction in which crews of volunteers worked 24 hours along side the Classic Homes of Maryland team led by Prem Puri. The home for the family of 15 consists of many great features that will help them adjust to their new life together.
